

FOUR FUNDAMENTALS OF THE EARLY CHURCH

ACTS 2:42-47

In times of trial or difficulty people often have the tendency to lose their bearings and move away from fundamental values. It is precisely at that time that our fundamentals are most necessary. The church has faced adversity over the past couple of years and it doesn't look as though it will let up. In fact, it seems as though it will intensify. It is possible that the church can lose its bearings and move away from the key values that make us what God desires us to be. The early church faced adversity from its inception. The godly followers, empowered by the Holy Spirit, were devoted to God-ordained values instead of retreating or being distracted. What were those key values that they held onto so tightly? Today we want to look back at four fundamental values of the early church and remind ourselves to be devoted to those values.
